Abstract

This qualitative study aimed at examining the influence of Christian religious education as a means of curbing moral decadence among youth in Uganda while considering Lubyra parish Rubaga division Kampala district. It was guided by the divine command theory that holds the assumption that rightness stems from God's command under the sample size of 138 respondents among whom included secondary school leaders, teachers and non-teaching staff as well as students in the parish. The school that were involved in this study were Namungoona high school, Namungoona progressive secondary school, Chwa II memorial senior secondary school and St Florence senior secondary school. The study was anchored on three objectives namely; (1) examining the effect of moral decadence on students (2) examining the causes of moral decadence among secondary school and (3) examining the various christen religious biblical teachings that focus on fighting moral decadence and the results revealed moral decadence has contributed to an increase in school burn out, robbery as well as corruption among officials. Christian religious education is imperative to curbing moral decadence. Christian religious education as a subject has the capacity if implemented properly to control the spread of these behaviors among youths in all secondary school's country wide. The study recommends policy makers to embark of redesigning laws concerning human rights, since it is through human rights that children can no longer be punished in their young stage when they have done wrong.

Keywords: Christian Religious Education, Curbing, Moral Decadence and Youths

Background of the study

In this study, the independent variable is moral decadence. (Sylvia & Peter, 2023) defined moral decadence as the inability to promote healthy morals. (John et al., 2023) also defined morality as a behavioral process that exhibits low moral standards. Morality is a set of codes of conduct presented by any group or society that are acceptable to all members. Morals such as rape, sexual harassment, teenage pregnancy, violence, corruption, kidnapping, murder, indecent dressing, and drug abuse are cited as immoral behavior in various societies. On the other hand, (Anthony, Kazaara, & Kazaara, 2023) defines religious learning (the dependent variable of the study) as a way to address the moral behavior associated in our societies. The National Policy on Education (NPE 2004) states that Christian religious education is faith based on morality as the only way to lead citizens to live responsibly in society (Paul et al., 2023).

Lubyra Parish is located in Rubaga Division, Kampala District, Central Uganda. The parish has more than 7 secondary schools, one of which is public and six are privately owned by businessmen. Student morale in Lubyra Parish has been observed to degrade several subjects such as police reports of insecurity, robbery, prostitution and rape (Kazaara et al., 2023). The issue of moral decadence in Lubyra Parish, Rubaga Division, Kampala District has been and continues to be a matter of debate, hence the need for this study.

Students at their young age learn better and are able to transform from one perspective to another. This is the time when they begin to show leadership and also a willingness to follow the leadership trait. However, their moral decadence persists (Christopher et al., 2022). Their inappropriate dressing by their parents and their society today, drug abuse, use of offensive words and absence from school are undoubtedly a reflection of their moral decadence (Godfrey et al., 2023). The current moral decadence among the youth can be traced to bad parenting, modernization, westernization, bad governance, bad religious teachings, among others. However, not every child received the best parenting training that everyone could wish for. Ali and Akubu (2014) identified Christian Religious Studies as an alternative that could be used in improving students' morals, God's commandments and faith in Him at their best. These teachings are embedded in stories and events from the Bible that are aimed at shaping human behavior. Therefore, the aim of this study was to investigate the effect of Christian religious education in secondary schools in Uganda to influence the proper moral development of a child (Anthony, Kazaara, Kazaara et al., 2023).

Specific objectives

1. To examine the effects of moral decadence on students in senior secondary schools in

Lubya parish

2. To examine the causes of moral decadence among secondary school students in Lubya parish.
3. To examine the various Christian religious biblical teachings that focus on fighting moral decadence.

Methodology

This study used a descriptive survey research design with inclusion of both qualitative and quantitative approaches where people's views and opinions were sought and described accordingly to establish the influence of Christian religious education as a means of curbing moral decadence among youths. The study was conducted from secondary schools in Lubya parish Rubaga division Kampala district. The schools included Namungoona progressive secondary school, St Florence senior secondary school, Namungoona high school and Chwa II memorial senior secondary school.

the study using different sampling methods as shown in table 1 below.

Primary data was collected by use of questionnaires and interview guides which were administered to respondents since they were the ones to give firsthand information on the subject under study. The study incorporated the use of various methods in the process of data collection in a bid to come up with sound, concrete and credible research findings. The researcher therefore amalgamated the use of questionnaires and interview guides in the process of collecting primary data. Questionnaires such as open ended and close ended questionnaires consisting a series of questions drafted to collect information in relation to the research objectives or questions. The study used a 5-point Likert scale to measure the strength of the sub constructs of the variables in relation to respondents' responses. The scale ranged from strongly agree to strongly disagree (strongly agree, agree, not sure, disagree, and strongly disagree). Editing of collected data was done to make data ready and simpler for presentation. The filled questionnaires were edited one by one to correct errors done by the respondents. Data was edited in order to check for accuracy, completeness, consistency and uniformity. The edited data was analyzed quantitatively and qualitatively as follows; Quantitative data was grouped and statistical description such as tables showing frequencies and percentages for better interpretation were used using SPSS & STATA (Nelson et al., 2022). However, qualitative data was analyzed in a way of identifying responses from respondents that are relevant to the research problem. Mainly such data was analyzed by explaining the facts collected from the field under which the researcher was able to quote respondents' responses.

5 (3.6%) were not sure however 54 (39.1%) disagreed with the scripture. The researcher also asked respondents about 1st Peter 4:7-11, which says the end of the world is coming soon. Therefore be earnest and disciplined, 129 (93.5%) of them agreed with the scripture while 9 (6.5%) disagreed with the power of the scripture in controlling moral decadence.

With respect to Leviticus 19, which says show the holiness of human in personal conduct to both fellow humans, 78 (56.5%) of the entire respondents agreed to the scripture, 13 (9.4%) of them were not sure with the power of the scripture, however, 47 (34.1%) of them disagreed to the power of the scripture in curbing moral decadence. Looking at Deuteronomy 24:14-15: which encourage one never to take advantage of the poor and laborers', 93 (67.4%) of the study respondents agreed to the scripture, 5 (3.6%) of them were not sure with the scripture however, 40 (29%) of the total respondents disagreed with the scripture. Furthermore, when respondents asked about Ephesians 4: 32, which says be kind to each another, tender-hearted, forgiving one another, just as God through Christ has forgiven you, 119 (86.2%) of the respondents agreed to this scripture, 2 (1.5%) of them were not sure however 17 (12.3%) of the study respondents disagreed to the scripture. Lastly the researcher looked at Galatians 5:22 which says but the Holy Spirit produces this kind of fruit in our lives: love, joy, peace, patience, kindness, goodness, faithfulness, gentleness and self- control, all respondents 138 (100%) of them agreed to the scripture.

Summary of findings

Effects of moral decadence on students

The results revealed that the moral decadence affect students negatively since moral decadence results to sexual harassment and discrimination among people, leads to low academic achievement, school dropout and decline in moral education, school absenteeism, school strikes, examination malpractice, poor academic and social performance, disrespect, slow pace of development, stealing, bribery, insubordination, violence, discrimination, collapse of family and community life, arson, cultism, forgery

Causes of moral decadence

The study identified that causes of moral decadence and the results shows that moral decadence may be caused by unstable home environment, family financial background, poor parenting and environmental factors, the United Nations human rights codes, failure to attain guidance and counseling at primary education level, peer groups mostly among urban centers. lack of discipline and willingness to learn, especially in primary and secondary schools, Poor students- teacher relationship, strained teacher-headmaster relationship, disrespect for school heads, increasing and uncontrolled social media platforms such as tick tok, face book, you tube, Google and other social media platforms, exposure of youths to sexual contents and gradual imposition of the western culture on the traditional African society.

Conclusion

The increase in moral decadence has contributed to an increase in school burn out, robbery as well as corruption among officials. Christian religious education is imperative to curbing moral decadence starting from school, protecting and utilization of national resources. Maintaining the available human rights, social media platforms, un regulated and unethical television programs, irresponsible parents and government as well as further adaptation of western and un African style, more and more youths are engaging in poor behaviors among our societies. This increase in the adoption of such has led to an increased school burn out rate, sexual harassment, robbery, corruption among all offices, and death of related kinds. Several studies conducted are continuing to identify the causes of this vice, and several other studies are continuing to do so. However, Christian religious education as a subject has the capacity if implemented properly to control the spread of these behaviors among youths in all secondary schools country wide. Christian religious teachings such as Psalm 103:3, 10-12, Isaiah 43:

25, Mathew 6: 14-15, Matthew 10:42, Hebrews 6: 10, psalm 34: 14, Psalm 37: 37 and Mathew 5:9 among other scriptures if reflected on properly can guide youths towards improving their behaviors based on Gods will of doing. If we cannot combine hands with the word of the living God, the effect that moral decadence has on our society, our lives, families, administration and even natural environment will surely diminish.

Recommendations

The study finds that the ministry of education and sports has failed to facilitate secondary schools with the necessary materials such as bibles and qualified Christian religious education to assist or teach students in their relevant schools. Therefore, the study recommends that parents should be forced to facilitate their children with all the necessary materials needed in learning and teaching religious education.

The study recommends policy makers to embark of redesigning laws concerning human rights, since it is through human rights that children can no longer be punished in their young stage when they have done wrong. The study furthermore, recommends the ministry of information and technology, the Uganda communication commission and parents to prevent their children from accessing unethical social media platforms and television programs.
